EXPORTS

Decline Shown
Waste Silk
Sheep's Wool

THE exports from Shanghai show a decline in many articles. For instance, the figures for last July and August are not as good as those of the same period last year, although last year could not by any means be said to have been even a fair one for China exports. In waste silk the figures are slightly better and so are they in the case of hides. In July last we exported from Shanghai 7,529 piculs of waste silk and in August 10,131 piculs, making 17,660 piculs against 16,243 piculs during the similar two months last year. The export of cocoons shows a falling off, being 1,645 piculs for the two months against 4,384 piculs, the whole quantity, with the exception of 287 piculs purchased by America, going to Japan. In the case of waste silk Marseilles took 5,650 piculs and Japan 3,788 piculs, with America 2,098 piculs, out of the total for the period.

The export of sheep's wool is nearly 33 percent down, from July 1 to August 31 of this year, Shanghai exporting 31,450 piculs against 92,549 piculs last year for the same period. England has been a large purchaser of camel's wool, taking being some three times as much. The figures read 3,033 piculs against 1,147 piculs. In the case of goat's wool the transhipment trade records a decline from 3,296 piculs for the two months, July and August last year, to 2,133 piculs.

Taken jointly, the exports of hides for the two months are better than the comparative two months of last year, being 20,989 piculs against 15,829 piculs. There has been keen competition for seconds and rejections among buyers for Japan. New season buffalo hides are being quoted on the Shanghai market at around Tls. 35. Little business has been recorded as buyer's ideas are considerably below this rate. The market for new season hides and skins which will open next month should witness a good deal of activity.

SHEEP'S WOOL

Buyers of wool have been strenuously opposing sellers' quotations but to no avail. The holders have been successful in securing their prices owing to the paucity of supplies. This was specially noticeable in the demand for sheep's wool. Compared with July last the exports from Shanghai transhipment cargo registered a decline, 11,254 piculs in August against 20,196 piculs in July, America taking the bulk of these, namely 25,571 piculs. Szechuen wool is now being quoted within ten percent of American and European prices, while replacement quotations for Shanghai spot cargo are considerably higher.

In spite of the depression in the spinning industry in China the exports of China raw cotton during the last two months of the past season are a considerable falling off over the figures of the comparative two last months of last year. We shipped from Shanghai in July last 26,708 piculs of raw cotton and in the following month 13,293 piculs, in all 40,001 piculs, whereas from July 1 to August 31, 1922 the exports reached the total of 73,373 piculs. In September last the shipments of raw China cotton amounted to 10,118 piculs while, for the middle of this month the exports reached some 4,500 piculs, the bulk of these going to Japan.

COTTON PRICES

Prices for Chinese cotton since the opening of the season have been on the upgrade, and stand today much higher than was even anticipated at the beginning of the season. This has been the result of the buying on the part of the mills in Shanghai and also in sympathy with prices for mid-American cotton. The Japanese as usual have been large purchasers of Chinese cotton, a good portion of the Japanese purchases being for the mills here. Quite a large trade has been reported in

CALVIN COOLIDGE

The first of a series of articles revealing for the first time the personality of America's least known President, Calvin Coolidge, appears on the editorial page of The China Press today.

We would suggest that you read it if you desire to form an opinion of the capabilities of the man who is now at the head of the American government and who unquestionably will be one of the dominating figures in the next nomination conventions and elections.

The second article will appear tomorrow.

Weather

Overcast and cool weather. The maximum temperature yesterday was 76.5 and the minimum 58.8, the figures for the corresponding day last year being 72.5 and 59.9.

GREECE THREATENED WITH CIVIL WAR; GARRISONS IN PROVINCES STAGE MUTINY

Insurrection Is Quelled In Some Parts Without Bloodshed But Others Still Hold Out As Martial Law Is Reestablished; Formation Of New Government Demanded By Leaders Of Revolt

(Reuter's Service)

Athens, Oct. 22.—A revolutionary proclamation urges the King to assume his sovereign rights and appoint a new Government; otherwise civil war is threatened.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 23.—A semi-official despatch from Athens says that following the anti-Government campaign of the reactionary press, mutinies broke out among several provincial garrisons. Those at Cavalla, Drama and elsewhere have been quelled without bloodshed, but the mutineers at Corinth, Patras and Calamata are still holding out, though their numbers are few.

All the other garrisons in the country, including that at Athens, and the entire fleet are standing by the Government, which has re-established martial law, seized today's issues of the opposition newspapers and effected several arrests. General Metaxas and his lieutenants have escaped. The situation in Athens and the Piraeus is normal.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 22.—Cryptic despatches from Athens betray a severe censorship and indicate a serious development of the indignation which recently prevailed principally owing to the establishment of a newspaper censorship on the eve of the elections.

A succession of brief cables state that Colonel Plastiras has issued a proclamation condemning the reactionary activities of two generals and other officers of the Peloponnesus Army.

General Metaxas and the directors of his newspaper have disappeared.

The mutineers have been warned to disperse within an hour or they will be bombarded by aeroplanes.

Later. Messages trickling in from Reuter's correspondent at Athens, after passing through the censor's hands, report a military rising under the leadership of the Royalist General Metaxas at the head of 2,000 men with six guns. Revolutionary proclamations are being scattered over the capital by means of aeroplanes.

The movement is declared to be unimportant.

With a view to misleading the troops, the rising is stated to be directed by the Venizelist Generals Gargabdis and Leonardopoulos and other officers, all of whom are on the retired list.

(Reuter's Service)

Athens, Oct. 22.—A revolt has broken out among some of the provincial garrisons. The mutineers are demanding the resignation of the Government with the object of ensuring impartiality at the elections.

Plight Of Women Held By Bandits Is Pitiable

The plight of the two lady missionaries—Miss M. Darroch and Miss M. R. Sharp—who were captured by bandits in Honan a month ago, has been most pitiable, according to latest word received here in letters from Yen Cheng and Pao-feng.

In skirmishes with the troops a week or so ago the outlaws were forced to abandon much of their plunder and supplies with the result that the captives were without sufficient bedding and clothing and at the time the letter was written were receiving barely enough food.

A letter from Mr. C. N. Lack, of the China Inland Mission, dated October 20 at Yen Cheng, throws a strong side light upon the unsympathetic attitude of General Wu Pei-fu in the Lushan matter. Interviewed by the British vice-consul he made the statement:

"You are too humane to bother about two women. Why not leave them?"

NEGOTIATIONS STARTED

Mr. Lack forwards the following copy of a letter received from Mr. Joyce, who wrote from Paofeng Monday noon, October 15:

"I purpose going to Lushan tomorrow as the negotiations for the release of the captives are taking place there, and it is only 35 li from the captives.

"The Governor's deputy arrived yesterday and left at once for Lushan, as he learnt that negotiations with the brigands by the Lushan officials had already commenced. He did not have time to keep his promise to see me in the afternoon, so I failed to ascertain what his powers are.

"Wang, the messenger, estimates that Fan has only 800-1,000 men but a demand is being made for the reception of 2,000-3,000 into the army. A number of local brigands are joining up with Fan and they will all want to be taken on, but the officials will object.

CONDITION PITIFUL

"Wang tells me that the ladies are in a pitiable condition—very thin and wornout clothing and mostly in rags, and only course millet to eat. The district they are in is a poverty-stricken one. The ladies were in a small room with a dirty bed, and one small Chinese coverlet between them. Faithful Wang sent them flour, milk and bedding from Lushan yesterday, purchased with money supplied by the Brigand Chief. I also sent clothing and stores which I brought with me. I am securing a further supply of food and clothing from Chia Hsien today and will take them with me tomorrow.

"The ladies are not actually ill, but very thin and worn out. They lost all their clothes—except those they were wearing, and bedding, etc. on Wednesday, 10th inst. during a fight 30 li west of Lushan, with village militia—a civilian force. The brigands had the worst of it, being very short of ammunition, and they were compelled to abandon most of their carts with supplies and had to flee rapidly. The large number of horses captured, and the plunder secured hindered the villagers from following up their victory. Had the soldiers from Lushan and Chihyang been there—as they ought to have been—and helped the villagers, then the brigand band could have been wiped out."

DIVORCE SUIT IS STARTED IN BRITISH COURT

John Oliver Barnes Charged With Cruelty And Adultery

A divorce action based on charges of cruelty and adultery was began by Isobel Bain Barnes against John Oliver Barnes in the British Supreme Court yesterday. After testimony of the plaintiff in an attempt to establish domicile had been taken the suit was adjourned until Monday morning.

Mrs. Barnes was represented by Mr. L. K. Kentwell and the suit was defended by Mr. Tycho Wing, who contested the claim of domicile.

In his opening statement Mr. Kentwell said that Mr. and Mrs. Barnes were married in Shanghai and the domicile of the respondent was Shanghai. He would call the petitioner, he said, to testify that she came to Shanghai from Scotland in 1890 when a child. The marriage took place, he continued on March 2, 1907, and both parties had since lived in Shanghai with the exception of one brief interval.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnes have two children, Mr. Kentwell said, twins, aged 15½ years. Mr. Barnes, he said, came to Shanghai in 1900 and had no family ties or property in England.

Mr. Kentwell said he would not go into the charges on which the divorce was asked until the question of domicile was established. Under the rules of the British Court a person must establish domicile in China before he or she can sue for divorce of any grounds.

THE TESTIMONY

Mrs. Barnes was then called to the stand and testified to the dates and facts of her marriage and life with Mr. Barnes. He was wounded in the war in France, she said, and lost one leg. Before the war, she said, they lived in fairly good circumstances, but since he had returned he had not contributed to her support although he had had six or seven good positions.

Outside of his leg, she continued, he enjoyed good health and any illness he might have could

Hon. Arthur Guinness Pays Call On Shanghai

By Irene Corbally Kuhn

The Honorable Arthur E. Guinness, of Dublin yachtsman, sportsman and scientist, has no particular antipathy toward Shanghai, as evidenced by the fact that he and his party of travellers have spent almost 10 days here. However, in planning a round-the-world cruise in his 252 ton yacht the "Fantome II," Mr. Guinness, with the adventurous spirit of the true yachtsman, first plotted his course so that it would include the little-visited but romantic spots of the world, even while the big ports were not neglected. The log of the "Fantome II" shows that she dipped her graceful nose into the harbor waters of Seville, adventured along the Northern coast of South America, visiting Columbia and Venezuela. Colon and Balboa bade her hello and good-bye as she made the required trip of the Panama Canal and before she came into home waters again she will have visited the principal cities of the Orient, including Shanghai, Hongkong, Singapore, Colombo and others.

But, primarily, this 1923-24 trip of the "Fantome II" was an "island jaunt." From Las Palmas in the Canaries, to Suva in Fijis, the yacht went round the world through the islands. Cruising de luxe, the explorers visited, besides such well-known groups as the West Indies and Cape Verde islands, the Galapagoes the Marquesas, the Society and Friendly islands, the New Hebrides, Cook's Islands, the Fijis and the Solomon and Caroline groups.

A DENTAL OFFERING

One wonders just what were the thoughts of the South Sea island chief who presented the Hon. A. E. Guinness with the "good luck" tooth which occupies an important place in the latter's study on the ship when the chief saw this barque with all the appurtenances of modern civilisation, anchored in the clear green waters of his tropic bay.

The "Fantome II," before she became the Guinness property, was owned by the Duke of Westminster who fitted her out in princely or, perhaps, princessly, fashion. Mr. Guinness, when he acquired her, added the details that made a good yacht better. She was fine material to work upon for despite her luxurious appointments she is a staunch seaworthy craft, having begun her career at Nantes, where she was launched for the French merchant marine.

There are 167 feet of her, every inch sound. Leaving aside the excellent crews quarters and the interesting but technical engine room where the complicated mechanism that makes the wheels go round cancels the usefulness, but not the picturesqueness of the full sails on the three masts of the yacht, we come to the center of the ship. This is the living quarters of the passengers.

Nothing has been neglected that might add to the complete comfort of the master and mistress of the yacht and their guests. Roomy cabins with comfortable beds and bunks, tiled bathrooms each with an overhead shower and a continuous supply of hot and cold sea and fresh water, cupboards built in the panelled walls of the corridors, are just a few of the conveniences of this super-yacht.

SPEAKING OF CONVENIENCE

Mr. Guinness's cabin is complete in every detail even to

PLAN REMOVAL OF GOVERNOR OF OKLAHOMA

Legislators Draw Up Charges And Prepares For Impeachment

(BY UNITED PRESS)

Oklahoma City, Oct. 22.—The legislative committee which is considering the charges against Governor J. C. Walton, at a midnight session tonight, completed its indictment of the governor and will submit it to the legislature as a whole at the earliest possible moment.

The vote decreeing the removal from office of the governor is practically assured in the legislature, after which the senate will consider his impeachment. Following the impeachment, providing it is successful, individual members of the legislature say that criminal proceedings in the state courts are probable.

The difficulties between Governor Walton and the legislature arose over the Governor's declaration of war on the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma. In pursuance of his policy to "drive the Klan out of the state," the Governor declared state-wide martial law and prevented the legislature from holding a session at which it was planned to impeach him.

BIG AREA OF SHOPS, GODOWNS, DWELLINGS LAID WASTE BY FIRE

Conflagration, Originating In Chinese Match Factory, Spreads Over Section Half-Mile Long And Quarter-Mile Wide; Foreign Godowns Saved After Desperate Battle By Fire Brigades

One of the most spectacular and disastrous fires seen here in many years broke out early last evening on the Pootung side of the river, its start being heralded with a terrific explosion which brought hundreds flocking to the Bund to see a towering, chemically colored wall of flame sweep its way through acres upon acres of godowns, shops and dwellings, taking toll—it is feared—of many lives.

The fire originated, so far as could be learned last night, in the Yung Chong match factory, Lan Nee Doo village, Pootung. Chinese near the premises at the time stated that the blaze was first noticed in the paper rooms of the factory, but that almost immediately there was an explosion among the potash, sulphur and other chemicals used in the manufacture of matches. This first explosion sent a tower of incandescence into the air for about a thousand feet. So fierce was the burst, in fact, that pieces of burning wood and fragments from the explosive containers were hurled clear across the river, landing on the Shanghai Side along the Chinese Bund.

The Butterfield and Swire godowns, as well as other foreign godowns which run in a long strip along the Pootung side of the river southward from a point about across from the B. and S. offices, were threatened from the outset and, be it said that the Shanghai Fire Brigade and the Customs Fire Float did yeoman work from the roofs and along the rear compounds of these properties.

GODOWNS SAVED

Chief Officer Pett, Station Officer Gilhooly and others of the Shanghai Fire Department were on the scene almost before the the echoes of the second explosion had died away and with the Brigade Fire Float in operation lines of hose were run back to the rear of the godowns for the purpose of damping down. The task of saving that section of Lan Nee Doo was too big a one for any fire department to tackle. A street scarcely ten feet wide separated the rear of these godowns from the flaming village. The houses and shops on the eastern side of that roadway were burned sheer to the ground. The sheet iron fence backing the godowns—a scant eight feet from the walls—was a white-hot paling as far as the road stretched. But the streams directed against it—the steam almost blinding the firemen—saved the godowns.

The explosion occurred at about 8:45 p.m. and within a few minutes the flames were blanketed across the entire southern section of Lan Nee Doo and bearing down upon the extensive godown row of Butterfield and Swire, the Dollar Company and other foreign firms which fringe the river with their warehouses.

MANY DEAD, BELIEF

The main streets of the village were almost instantaneously a series of avenues of flame and it is believed that many people perished as they rushed out of their houses following the explosion.

Whether there was a night force at work in the match factory when the explosion came was a matter of doubt last night—some Chinese declaring that the factory worked two shifts and others denying this. At any rate, it was declared, there would be a number of people in the factory and it is believed that many of these must have lost their lives.

The strong northeast wind bent the pillar of fire arising from the wrecked manufactory directly across the southern section of Lan Nee Doo and so fierce were the flames that the shops and dwellings, as well as a considerable number of Chinese godowns seemed to pop into the wide area of fire—almost as an echo of the blast which shot the factory into oblivion.

FIREMEN HEROIC

The Chinese firemen of Pootung, handicapped by weak water supply and working with hand-pumps did heroic deeds during the blaze, working up almost under the

WOOD OFF TO MINDANAO TO QUELL MOROS

Serious Outbreaks Are Reported In Philippines

(Exclusive China Press)

Manila, Oct. 23.—Governor-General Leonard Wood, Major General Read, commander of the Department of the Philippines, and General Crane, commander of the Philippine constabulary, accompanied by Colonel Johnson, of Governor Wood's staff and Major Fapardo, constabulary medical corps, are leaving at midnight tonight for Mindanao, following reports of widespread outbreaks among the Moros there.

En route, fifty constabulary men will be picked up in Cebu for reinforcement purposes. Col. Waloe, commanding the constabulary in Mindanao has left for Parang to take charge of operations against the Moros.

Before leaving, Governor Wood declared that he would investigate conditions and study the best means of restoring peace. The party will first stop at Cotobata and then proceed to Parang and Lanao.

'POLITICOS' STIRRED

Filipino politicians are greatly stirred up over the happenings in Mindanao and now blame the Americans for all their troubles, declaring that American interests in Mindanao have incited the Moros in order to bring about a military regime there and also to furnish the American newspaper correspondents in the Philippines with arguments against immediate independence.

According to "El Debate," a leading Filipino morning daily, this aspect of the situation will be brought to the attention of the shadow of stacks of cases of phosphorus and chlorate of potash with their feeble streams. Beaten from the outset, they fought stubbornly to stem the tide of fire and only retreated when walls fell before them and the packing cases of explosives flared forth in streams of sparkling chemical.

The burning of the chemicals stored near the match factory provided one of the most spectacular displays imaginable. Just to the south of the plant were a number of small sheds, with galvanised iron roofing, which contained case after case of chlorate of potash and of phosphorus, mostly contained in metal containers. The Chinese fire brigade on the Pootung side tried to remove these cases from the fire area but the majority of them and as the flames caught them there was explosion after explosion, and as the tins burst there were streams of fire which might have been spurted from a hose.

In trying to remove the cases of explosive from the reach of the flames several Chinese coolies were severely burned, while at one time the officials of the Shanghai brigade were forced to fall back before a terrific blast of flame which spread out from a shedfull of cases fired by the terrific heat.

One of the most dramatic features of the fire was the traffic along the creek which runs through the village. During the earlier stages of the blaze sampans were to be seen plying up the waterway loaded with household belongings and with persons fleeing from the wrath of the flames. On each side of the creek buildings were blazing and at the end the destruction along both sides of the creek was complete. But the traffic aforementioned must have accounted for many lives and much property saved.

The outbreak was first reported to the River Police at 8.55 p.m. The fire float was dispatched immediately. The first explosion, watchers reported, occurred at 9.05 p.m. and was of a very severe character. The second explosion followed shortly thereafter.

There was considerable alarm and confusion among Chinese residents of the Settlement and French Concession, who, seeing the great red reflection of the flames in the sky and hearing the clamor of the fire engines as they raced to and fro in the Settlement, recalled the prophecies of a destruction that was to be visited upon the earth. In Chapei and the Hongkew district great crowds milled through the streets in the direction of what they believed to be the conflagration. The Garden Bridge and Bund were filled with thousands of sight-seers who watched the play of the flames across the river.

Berlin, Oct. 22—A censorship has been established.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Oct. 22—M. Le Trocquer, the Minister of Public Works, left Paris this evening for Duesseldorf on a tour of inspection.

The French press generally emphasise that the Rhenish Separatist movement is a question of German internal policy. The Journal des Debats states that the Rhenish Republic proclaimed at Aix la Chapelle by Herr Deckers and his supporters is only one of the numerous indications of the mental confusion in the Rhineland and the desire of the inhabitants finally to escape from a situation of too great uncertainty.

The Temps notes that the Rhenish movement is still too sporadic to afford a basis for conclusions.

Havas confirms that complete calm reigns at Aix la Chapelle where the employees of the public services and the police are obeying the Separatists. The movement has spread to several districts, the most important of which are Duren, Crefeld and Frechen-Larbach, an important industrial and railway center.

The number of railwaymen who have asked for re-employment in the Franco-Belgian regie now totals 80,400, 15,000 of whom applied in a single day on Saturday.

The conflict between Munich and Berlin has created a confused situation. According to the Montag, the Minister of Labor, Herr Brauns, who had gone to Munich to negotiate, has failed. Certain newspapers announce that the Bavarian Government have agreed to submit the dispute to Reichs Council.

legislature, but this statement is not taken seriously. The object of such stories is believed to be to throw a smokescreen over the real cause of the trouble, namely, the incompatibility of the Moros and Filipinos and the former's objections to tactics similar to those employed when the present controversy between the politicos and Governor Wood was precipitated.

By blaming the Americans, and raising their independence cry louder than ever, these "politicos" are sure to attract a big following among the unthinking at any time.

SITUATION SERIOUS

It is difficult to obtain any real facts regarding the situation in Moroland but its seriousness is indicated by the sending of reinforcements from Manila and provincial points and by the departure of the Governor-General and commanding officers of the department and the constabulary.

Should the constabulary prove unable to cope with the situation, it is probable that the American regular forces stationed in the Philippines will be immediately employed. These are regular army units commanded by American officers.

Many army officers express the opinion that the trouble in Mindanao is now so widespread that a general cleanup will be necessary. Ever since some 23 Arab Hadji's have been proselytising among the Moros unrest has been increasing. These activities have been going on for six months and added to the bitter hatred of the Moros against the Filipinos have roused most of the natives to a state approaching frenzy.

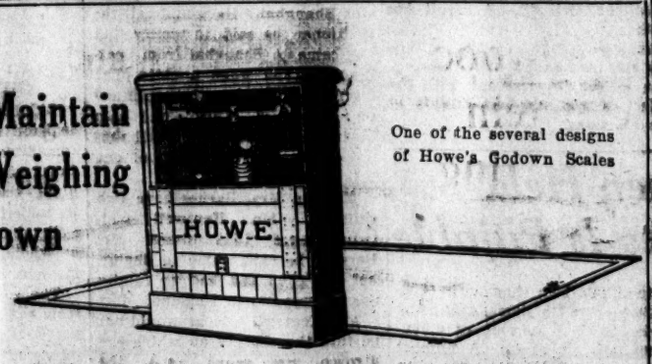
How to Maintain Accurate Weighing in the Godown



One of the several designs of Howe's Godown Scales

The best means known to secure and retain a sensitive balancing point is the use of the knife edge pivot. Chemists use an agate edge for weighing minute particles.

Howe's Godown Scales

have a steel knife edge. To maintain accuracy this must be protected as it is impossible to get accurate weight unless the knife edge pivot is sharp and smooth.

A Special Device

of balls moving in scientific shaped cups, allows movement in all directions and minimizes friction or scraping on the knife edge pivot, even when heavy loads are carelessly dropped on the platform. Thus absolute accuracy is maintained for years.

YOKOHAMA TO REMAIN BIG SILK PORT, SAYS DOUTY

Shanghai Silk Man Returns From Month In Japan

Yokohama is to be rebuilt and will unquestionably retain its supremacy as the premier port of Japan, according to Mr. D. E. Douty of the United States Testing Company, who returned to Shanghai on the President Grant yesterday after a month in Japan. Mr. Douty went to Japan last month immediately upon receipt of the earthquake news and has been making a survey of the silk situation there ever since.

Mr. Douty expressed the belief that Yokohama would hold on to its honors in being Japan's biggest silk shipping center, but said that it may be that Kobe, which has been putting up a fight to get the trade, will be able to get at least a portion of the business. The silk is being moved along in fair volume now, Mr. Douty said, and while it was still far from normal America-bound ships were taking out from 2,000 to 2,500 bales each trip. Conditions were improving rapidly when he left, he said, and he expected the President Jackson would take out a bigger quantity.

SILK LOWER

The prevailing price last week was from 2300 to 2400 yen per picul, Mr. Douty said, but there seemed to be a tendency for the market to fall in harmony with the lower prices prevailing in New York, and Mr. Douty expects the price to drop still a little more.

The price was still undetermined, Mr. Douty said, because the Exchange has not yet reopened and as the silk men have no place to get-together and determine the ruling price it was still very much an individual proposition.

Mr. Douty boarded the Grant at Yokohama and said that when he left the stricken port there were quite a few foreigners, here and more were coming in gradually. A large number of foreigners, of course, have left Yokohama for all time but Mr. Douty was of the opinion that it would be only a short time until Yokohama began rebuilding. Temporary buildings have been or are being constructed now, he said, and it was the concensus of opinion among Japanese businessmen that the large Japanese firms would probably erect their main offices in Tokio but would maintain staffs and build low anti-earthquake buildings in Yokohama to carry on their usual business through the reconstructed port.

U. S. Vice Consul Tolles Resigns To Go Home

Mr. S. H. Tolles, Jr., American Vice-Consul here, who because of the many marriages he has performed in the Consulate-General has become known as the 'Marrying Consul,' has resigned from the Consulate service, according to information received yesterday.

Mr. Tolles' resignation will take effect on February 1 and Mr. and Mrs. Tolles will leave immediately for the United States. Mr. Tolles is going to 'return to the land'—specifically, a farm he owns near Madison, Connecticut. Mr. Tolles has been a member of the local Consular staff since May, 1920.

Hon. Arthur Guinness Pays Call On Shanghai

the compass and barometer installed in the ceiling over his bed, and the clinometer and other instruments conveniently placed so that he can see at a glance the time of day and the condition of things outside. Besides, there are telephones connecting with the bridge, the pantry and other focal points, and call bells for almost anyone on board he may wish to summon.

In his study are bookcases filled to bursting with technical volumes, principally on navigation and the exact sciences, for Mr. Guinness is "up" on relativity, the electron theory and just how to make his own ship go, if he wants to do it. There is also a gun case, in which, besides a dozen or more rifles and other firearms, there are three or four rapid firing guns—hand machine guns—and Ammunition cases containing 500 reasons why South Sea savages who might have become rambunctious while the owner and his companions were canoeing up unfrequented rivers, thought better of it and behaved themselves.

TROPHIES OF THE TRIP

One of the interesting trophies of this trip is the business portion of a vanquished sword fish which Mr. Guinness subdued one day while he was out fishing in a little-known river in one of the tropic islands. All sorts of war clubs and fighting implements of savage island tribes are in the collection of curios which Mr. Guinness and the men in his party, including Sir Algernon Guinness, a cousin, and one of the best-known amateur automobile racers in Europe, Mr. T. O. Fane, Mr. T. Murray and Dr. F. A. Phillipps, ship's surgeon, are bringing home.

Dr. Phillipps and Sir Algernon Guinness left the yacht in Japan to return to Yokohama in order that they might render whatever aid they could to the victims of the earthquake. The yacht was en route to Yokohama to replenish her oil and stock up on food supplies when the ship's wireless picked up the news of the disaster. Accordingly, instead of proceeding to Yokohama, only 12 hours distant, Commander A. T. Frogbrook, R. N. R., altered his course and made for Shimidzu. From here they went to Kobe and laid over while members of the party took some supplies to the stricken area.

COMFORT PLUS!

To return to the living quarters again, one of the most comfortable of all the splendidly equipped portions of this trim vessel is the main saloon, furnished in mahogany. A radio outfit, for listening in on the concerts and programs broadcasted from radios everywhere, an electric piano and a Pathe gramophone with a full complement of records for each of these instruments provide amusement for dull days and highseas. The couches and big chairs that are everywhere in this room are upholstered in the softest leather, and fitted with cushions that are semi-pneumatic. Comfort plus!

The cabins occupied by the three daughters of the Hon. A. E. Guinness and the Hon. Mrs. Guinness, Aileen, 19, Maureen, 17, and Oonagh, 14, are fitted up as girl's rooms should be. Then, on the after part of the main deck is a blue and white boudoir, with books and curios from all over the world, which is shared by Mrs. Guinness and her daughters, and, on this trip, by their guest, Miss Tennant, a near relative of Mrs. Margot Asquith of "memoirs" fame.

HARDY TRAVELLERS

The Guinness girls are no amateur travellers. On the last previous trip of the "Fantome II" when the intrepid yachtsman took her up close to the North Pole—to a latitude of 80 degrees—the girls earned the distinction of having gone farthest North of any women in Europe.

This trip up around Norway, Spitzbergen and the North Cape proved the seaworthiness of the pleasure craft. Just out of Spitzbergen, on the way home, the yacht ran into a storm that, in the opinion of the chief steward Mr. Carter, who told the tale, was one of the worst in his experience. The clinometer, an instrument for determining angular inclination, registered 47 degrees, showing that the ship was rolling more than half way over. Forty-five degrees is considered dangerous; yet the ship never keeled over altogether, and rode the storm without accident.

Exceptionally good luck seems to attend the craft, anyway. On this trip the weather has been well-nigh perfect for the seven months and 18,000 miles of the voyage already covered. The yacht left Southampton on March 30 last. It was the original idea of Mr. Guinness to be home for Christmas, but the charm of so many places visited proved too potent and it is not thought likely that the "Fantome II" and her party will reach Southampton again before March 1st of next year.

Where the study little ship and her intrepid voyagers will go next is a matter of wonder. Who knows but that the "Fantome II" will stay at home browsing in the quiet waters next year, while the travellers go adventuring in one of the other of the five yachts which the Hon. A. E. Guinness owns? She is a brave little ship and she will have earned a holiday when she reaches home again.

Chinese Refugees Sent From Japan

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Oct. 23.—As there are still not a few Chinese sufferers who wish to return home and in view of the fact that the Chinese Legation has asked the Japanese authorities concerned to transport them home free of charge, it has been decided to send to Shanghai 83 Chinese workmen on board the s.s. Kitano Maru which sailed from Yokohama on the 20th.

be laid to his drinking, she asserted.

SISTER A WITNESS

Mrs. Monkman, sister of Mrs. Barnes, was then called and testified that Mr. Barnes had always said he would remain for the rest of his life in Shanghai. He had told her that he never wanted to see England again. Mrs. Monkman denied that there had been an affectionate goodbye when Mr. Barnes went home and said that the proceeds of the furniture which was sold before he left, which was owned by Mrs. Barnes, had gone toward the passages and debts.

Only one other witness remained to be called by the petitioner, Mrs. Roach, the mother of Mrs. Barnes. Mrs. Roach is ill and could not attend court in person and adjournment was granted in order to have Mrs. Roach's testimony concerning both the question of domicile and the charges in the divorce action taken at her home.

The hearing will be resumed on Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

ADMIRAL TU TO BE MAIL-ORDER COURT WITNESS

To Answer Written Questionnaire In Kearny Arms Case

Because of passing business both United States District Attorney Leonard G. Husar and Mr. C. S. Franklin, counsel for Captain L. D. Kearny, find it inconvenient to go to Peking at this time and, consequently, in stead of them accompanying Mr. R. T. Peyton Grimm, Clerk of the Court, to Peking tomorrow to take Admiral Tu's deposition in the Kearny case, neither will go through an agreement made last night.

Instead of sending a deposition commission Mr. Husar and Mr. Franklin are making out questions and cross-questions to be asked the Commander-in-Chief of the Chinese Navy and will request an official of the American Legation to present the questions to Admiral Tu. It is expected that Admiral Tu, who has already expressed his willingness to expedite matters in any way he can, will answer the questions immediately, which will allow the final argument in the Kearny arms cases to take place on Monday or Tuesday.

GETS BONDS

Captain Kearny, who was ordered to secure new bonds by Judge Lobingier when two of his bondsmen withdrew on Monday, succeeded in having one bond for G.$2,000 signed yesterday and gave the United States District Attorney sufficient assurances that he would have the other signed by today. Kearny is, therefore, still at liberty pending final judgment in the case by Judge Lobingier.

the staple for October-November delivery.

Owing to supplies of feathers being difficult to obtain there is a reduced export of these from Shanghai. In July last we shipped 2,659 piculs and in the following month 1,043 piculs, in other words, 3,702 piculs against 3,704 piculs during July and August last year. London has been a good buyer, while the takings of Germany have been rather poor due principally to the chaotic state of the finances of that country..

The exports of untanned goatskins shows a considerable falling off, compared with the two similar months of last year, while rugs as well have experienced a similar slump. From 580,464 pieces the shipments declined to 294,099 pieces in the case of goatskins, and from 233,562 pieces to 104,255 pieces in the case of rugs of all descriptions. Business with America in skin rugs consists at present principally of dogskin mats, while that with other countries includes goat, sheep and antelope skin rugs.

In untanned goatskins the biggest shipments have gone to Marseilles, namely 193,388 pieces, while in goatskins practically all are being taken by Germany. The exports from Germany for the months of July and August last totalled 2,917 pieces, and this figure is almost on a par with the takings of the similar two months of last year.

As usual, Japan has been a heavy purchaser of China grass, the exports from Shanghai to that destination during July and August last exceeding the total of the same two months of the previous year. During July we exported in all 15,985 piculs and in August 28,176 piculs, in all 44,701 piculs against 42,616 piculs last year. Of this Japan alone took 42,986 piculs. Transactions with Europe have been unimportant.

INTEREST GROWS IN BOXING SHOW AT NEW CARLTON

Advance Sale Of Tickets—Lively; Both Boys Training Hard

Judging from the advance sale of tickets for the boxing show Friday night it begins to look like another New Year's crowd for the ball room of the big Bubbling Well Road establishment when the leather pushers stage their party. Fifteen hundred of the duckets were printed and they have been going like the proverbial hot cakes ever since they were put on sale.

There is much interest in sporting circles over the forthcoming battle between Billy Tingle and Sailor Chadwick, aside from the fact that it is to be staged in Louie Ladow's parlor. The fact that Terpsichore she of the cultured ankles, is to give way for a few hours to the God of Cauliflower Ears was itself an item of news sufficient to stand the town on its head. But now that the natives have begun to recover from the fact that somebody came along and proved that he could think a year or two ahead of everybody in town the interest is beginning to revert to the fighters themselves.

Both boys are good. Both have been seen in action here, and the sharps are not venturing any opinions. The bets so far recorded are generally at evens on a decision, and two to one against a kayo. Both boys are training hard for the match and both will enter the ring prepared to give the best he has in stock.

For those of the Carlton's patrons who may wish to dance after the bouts are over it may be said that the ring will be a portable affair, and that it will be taken out immediately after the final bout, after which dancing will proceed as usual until 3 o'clock.

Shanghai Scottish To Go Into Camp

The Shanghai Scottish S.V.C. will march into Camp on Friday evening next from the Ewo Foreshore where they will fall in at 5:30 p.m. A very interesting program has been arranged; in addition to the ordinary duties of the camp, tactical exercises will be carried out, and it is expected that the company will be able to enter a number of teams for the Corps section and other competitions on Sunday. On Sunday afternoon the company will be at Home. A sports Committee has been hard at work, and an excellent program of highland and other sports has been arranged, as follows:

1. Tossing the Caber.
2. Three legged race.
3. Putting the shot.
4. Inter Platoon Relay Race with dummies.
5. Swinging the lead.
6. Obstacle Race.
7. Children's Race—Boys.
8. Children's Race—Girls.
9. Ladies Glengarry Race.
10. Balaclava Melee (Inter Platoon).
11. Tug of War—Inter Platoon.
12. Eightsome Reels—Inter Platoon.

In addition there will be golf for ladies and if time allows a five aside football match. The sports will start promptly at 2:30, and the following gentlemen have kindly consented to act as judges: Messrs. John Prentice, C. H. Rutherford, and Sgt. Major D. Leighton. Information regarding the sports may be obtained from any of the following members of the Camp Sports Committee: C. S. M. D. Hall, Sgt. P. Campbell, Cpl. T. W. R. Wilson, Cpl. C. Lawson, Pte. G. D. Nicholl.

SORRY!

In Sunday's Sports Section it was inadvertently stated in a headline, in connection with East China Intercollegiate Tennis Championship Series that Soochow university had been eliminated. This was an error, as the headline should have stated that Hangchow, instead of Soochow, had been put out of the running. Our apologies to Soochow "U."

The Dog Watch

By Westa

THE most inexplicable and certainly the most exasperating factor in the life of an athlete, whether he is a husky, twenty year old sprinter or a doddering old golfer of forty, is the slump.

Comes a time when the sprinter simply can't sprint. He may be fuller of pep than snuff is of sneezes; track fast and springy; weather just right; grandstand full of wide-eyed co-eds, and yet—no steam in the old boilers! The same applies to box fighters; to baseball and football players, tennis cracks, swimmers, racehosses, ping-pongers, pool shooters, jacks jugglers and mumble peggers, all down the line! Sooner or later Old Slump gets his tentacles around them and they are, for the time being, finish!

WHILE Ol' Slump is paralysing in all sports his influence is more heartbreaking in golf than in any of the others. This may be disputed by the non-golfers, but their dissent will spring from ignorance of the absolutely limitless possibilities of disaster confronting the cow pasture pastimers. When Old Man Slump gets his clutches on the golfer he is like the pretty little girl with the naughty little curl right in the middle of her forehead in that when he is bad he is horrible.

For proof of the statement that slumps affect the golfer is more susceptible to slumps than others the fact may be cited that there are thousands of men in the world who make a living—and many of them a fat living at that—by helping golfers out of their slumps. Books have been written on the subject; dozens of magazines devote much of their space to the subject; thousands of daily newspapers employ experts to give advice to their golfing readers on how to shake off the devils that pursue them, not only on the links, but through their dreams as well.

Can this be said of any other sport?

THE reason why slumps affect golfers so adversely is because golf is a game of such infinitely fine adjustments that a very small thing is sufficient to upset the player's whole system, and set him to floundering.

The reason is attributable to a source which most of them (or us, rather) fail to recognise, to wit, our own minds. By this it is meant that when a golfer who has what may be called a system, .ie. a certain definite style of play, goes wrong suddenly it is because he becomes obsessed with the idea that there is something wrong with his system, when as a matter of fact his system is all right if he would give it a chance, or properly speaking, continue to give it a chance.

To illustrate: suppose player of the low handicap type—a player who may be said to have a system—starts out on a round

Knute Hansen, the heavyweight boxer, replying to a charge that he had "refused" to meet one Eddie Johnson, denies that the question of guarantee had anything to do with his stand. Hansen explains that his refusal was based on the fact that Johnson weighs only 160 pounds, and that a match between himself and a man of that weight would be of no interest. Hansen weighs 220 pounds.

ASTOR HOUSE IS LOSER IN CLAIM AGAINST GUESTS

Howard And Leinster Not Responsible For Each Others Chits

The suit in which the Shanghai Hotels, Ltd., sued Messrs. R. W. Howard and L. S. J. Leinster for the sum of $844.65 for board and lodgings at the Astor House Hotel was dismissed by Judge Peter Grain in the British Supreme Court yesterday morning. The dismissal resulted from Judge Grain's ruling that there was no evidence to show that Mr. Leinster was responsible for debts contracted by Mr. Howard, and the evidence given by Mr. Jack Klass, manager of the Astor, showed that he had looked to each of them individually to settle their bills.

Mr. M. Reader Harris, counsel for Mr. Howard, argued that it was unfair to sue Mr. Howard for bills contracted by Mr. Leinster. Mr. Leinster, he said, was willing to pay his personal chits. Mr. Leinster was called briefly and said that he was only an employee of Mr. Howard's and worked on a commission basis. His board and lodgings, however, were guaranteed.

Mr. Jack Klass, the Astor manager, testified that Mr. Howard and Mr. Leinster had come to the hotel in the middle of July and had lived a little better than the average guests. When he found that they were not settling their accounts, he said, he called them into his office and suggested they live more economically. He had spoken to them individually, he said, and had held them personally accountable for their bills.

National Service For Seafarers

A remarkable service was held last night at Holy Trinity Cathedral. The special intention was "Seafarers." We in the East are dependent upon our mercantile services for most of the good things in life, and that is probably the reason why the sacred edifice was so well filled at nine o'clock last evening.

The preacher, the Rev. Hamilton of H.M.S. Ambrose, pointed out that at least four classes of people were in the large congregation. There were the Navy boys. There were the representatives of the mercantile service. There were sympathisers from the commercial world, and also representative from all the consular bodies.

The whole service was inspiring. The choir came in singing that glorious hymn "All People That On Earth Do Dwell." This was followed by prayers and appropriate psalms. Then came a fine rendering of Naylor's anthem "Behold God Is Great," and after further supplications Mr. Hamilton preached a sermon, and within eight minutes not only gave us an idea of what the service was all about but also impressed upon his hearers that this world without God was very much like life without Oxygen, and that Service was the keynote of perfection. Service and sermon were all in keeping with a great occasion. This service is the beginning of many. Those that will follow must maintain worthy tradition.

The Dean—The Very Rev. C. J. Symons—took the first part of the service, and then the Rev. Hall—port chaplain—assisted with the supplications.

and makes several successive bad shots. He hooks his drive, lashes his escort to recover, makes a mess of his brassie, digs up a lot of turf with his mashie and is finally down in three putts for a seven.

The chances are ten to one that the player will get the idea into his head while walking to the next tee that something was suddenly gone wrong with his system, and as he waits his turn to drive he figures out in his own mind, or thinks he does, what the trouble was and then and there resolves to correct it. So he proceeds to change his grip or his stance—in other words, to change his system.

And right there is where he makes his great mistake, for the chances are a hundred to one that there was nothing wrong with his system. The first bad shot was simply an accident—a miscue, and the others a natural confusion and anxiety. What the player needs in a situation of that kind is mental calmness; an ability to recognise that the poor shots were merely inadvertencies, and not due to any fundamental faults in his style of play.

Chick Evans, the great American player, says the best golf lesson he ever got in his life was from a banker who never had a golf club in his hand, and who knew nothing about the links game.

"I was in great financial trouble," said Chick, "and after explaining the situation to my banker friend I asked him what to do. His reply was: to keep absolutely calm, and no matter how confusing or anxious the situation might become, to keep myself under absolute mental control. I did as he said and came out all right. Afterwards I applied that lesson to golf, and it has been my one great guiding principle ever since."

THERE you are—the greatest golf lesson that anybody can give you, assuming of course that you have developed a style of play for yourself which you know will give results because it has given results in the past.

Stick to the system—your system—and keep cool! That is easy to say, and easy to think of, but it is mighty hard to do when your drives are hooking or slicing all over the landscape. Yet all the great golfers tell us that we must learn to do it before we can hope to acquire real proficiency.

Gives Judgment Against Tientsin Cold Storage Co.

Judgment for $16,313.73, being the amount unpaid on the purchase of 577 head of cattle, was awarded the Mao Tung Products Company against the North China Cold Storage Company, Inc. of Tientsin, in a decision handed down by Judge Charles S. Lobingier in the United States Court for China yesterday.

Mr. Richard T. Evans of Tientsin appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. Theodore E. Simmang of Tientsin for the defendant.

FULL JUDGMENT

Judge Lobingier's complete judgment was as follows:

"This is an action to recover the price of certain cattle furnished by plaintiff to defendant in pursuance of a written contract. The latter called for one thousand head and it is admitted that plaintiff delivered 577. These were not all delivered at the same time, nor within the limits prescribed by the contract, but they were nevertheless accepted by defendant, and the amount due thereon fixed at Mex. $26,313.73, upon which defendant paid the sum of Mex. $10,000, leaving a balance due of $16,313.73.

"The main controversy in the case concerns defendant's claim of damages by way of set-off for the undelivered portion. Of these it is undisputed (pp. 39,45 and 46) that 260 head were obtained by defendant at the same market from which plaintiff was purchasing and were shipped by defendant on the same steamer which carried those accepted from plaintiff. There is no evidence or claim that this consignment occasioned defendant any greater expense than the cattle received directly from plaintiff and it would seem that these 260 head should, therefore, be deducted from the shortage chargeable to plaintiff. This would leave 163 head unaccounted for and upon these defendant's damages, if any, must be assessed.

"In a subsequent contract entered into by plaintiff with defendant and a third party, Okura and Co., it was agreed that the latter should "Be at liberty to go into the market and purchase on the best terms sufficient cattle for their requirements in order to fulfil their own contracts and any question of damages against Mao Tung Products Company shall be discussed and assessed hereafter."

"Even without this agreement defendant would have been entitled to purchase in the open market on the best obtainable terms and to have charged against plaintiff any excess of the market price over the contract price. But the payment of such difference, of course, needs to be established by clear and competent evidence which, in this instance, we must find has not been produced. Unsigned copies of correspondence (Exs. 7, 8 and 9) purporting to have passed between Okura and Co. and a vendor known as Shotai-ya are offered in evidence, but they, of course, are insufficient. Even had the signed originals been produced, the signatures would need to have been proved and the one witness called for the defendant did not claim to have any personal knowledge of this transaction. Moreover under the clause quoted above from the second contract, it would seem that the damages, if any, there mentioned would accrue not alone to defendant but also to Okura and Co. which was not a party to the original contract, here sued upon. In fact the language of the clause would imply that Okura and Co. is the one primarily, if not exclusively, entitled to such damages.

"Now, it is the general rule applicable to all cross-actions that "The demands must be mutual and subsisting between the parties. . . the demands must be due in the same capacity, and in the same right, and the same rule of mutuality of cross demands is very generally held by the cases in the various jurisdictions to apply when defendant sets up his claim in recoupment to plaintiff's demand, or in counterclaim. . . In accordance with the rule of mutuality above stated, it is very generally held that a demand against plaintiff in favor of a third person not a party to the action cannot be recouped, set off counterclaimed, reconvened, or compensated." (1)

"It follows that any claim accruing to Okura and Co., severally or jointly with defendant could not be allowed in this action which is against the defendant alone.

"For that reason we cannot accept defendant's contention that this action is prematurely brought because the "question of damages against the Mao Tung Products Co." has not been "discussed and assessed." That provision relates to damages accruing solely or in part, as we have seen, to Okura and Co. and not recoverable in this action. Hence such discussion or assessment could not serve to postpone plaintiff's right of action upon a claim exclusively against the defendant. Indeed defendant itself does not appear to have regarded this provision as a condition precedent to suit, for it appears from the evidence (pp. 12, 13) that it has already taken steps to sue the plaintiff. Nor does the evidence of an attempt at assessment seem sufficient. Defendant's witness testifies that it had proposed an assessment through its attorney, but the witness does not claim to have any personal knowledge of the proposal and the attorney, who was available, was not called.

"On the whole we are of opinion that any claim under the second contract would need to be litigated in such an action as defendant announced that it had taken steps to bring and that plaintiff is entitled to recover the amount admitted to be due it for cattle actually delivered.

"This conclusion renders it unnecessary to decide the contention ably presented in plaintiff's brief that further delivery was excluded by force majeure. Assuming that it was not, we think plaintiff is still entitled to judgment.

"It is, therefore, considered and adjudged that plaintiff have and recover from the defendant the said sum of sixteen thousand three hundred and thirteen and seventy-three one-hundredths Dollars ($16,313.73) Mexican currency, together with costs."

Y.W.C.A. Convention In Full Swing At Hangchow

The first national convention of the Young Women's Christian Association at Hangchow is in full swing. Chief interest in the business discussions so far has centered in the constitution which is being formulated. Group discussions so far have been held on such subjects as popular education, health education, and student membership, publications, secretarial training, and girls's work. The delegates are faithful in their attention to the business of the convention, and the day's program is a full one. On Saturday afternoon the convention went in a body on an excursion trip to the famous places on West Lake, and on Monday evening they all went for a moonlight boatride.

On Sunday afternoon a reception was given for the delegates by the Union Church Council, at which representatives of the churches, the students and the hospitals gave greetings to the convention. Many Hangchow people are attending the sessions of the convention, and several visitors from Shanghai have also attended. Miss Fan Yu-jung of Shanghai, assisted by Miss Ruth Cheng, of Peking, are presiding at the Convention sessions, and a large corps of interpreters and secretaries are also assisting. Discussions and reports are all conducted in Mandarin and English, regardless of the native dialect of the speaker. An official report of the convention is in preparation and will be published shortly.

TALKS ON EDUCATION

On Monday morning, Mr. Tsu Whing-Nung addressed the convention on "The Present Status of Education in China," and in the afternoon Prof. T. C. Chao of Peking University spoke on "International Fellowship."

On Sunday evening, Dr. T. T. Lew of the school of theology, Peking University, delivered an address before the convention on "A Vigorous New Program of Religious Education for the Young Woman's Christian Association of China. He said, in part:

"We who believe in religious education believe that education is not complete unless it includes religious education. We believe that religious education should be a part of the privilege due to all children, but it should be conducted and administered by the religious people, and offered to all those who are willing to take it at their own free will without any compulsion. I wish to make it clear that the advocacy of religious education does not in any way necessarily urge that the state include religion in its educational program nor does it urge compulsory religious teaching. On the contrary the advocacy of religious education in a way helps to make ordinary education more effective by freeing it from distinct religious limitations, but at the same time gives religious education it's proper opportunity to develop as it should..... We believe in religious education because education without religion is incomplete, but we often fail to realise that religion needs education, just as urgently as education needs religion.

After an interesting exposition of this point, Dr. Lew proceeded to discuss the question of why the Young Women's Christian Association should have a program of religious education. He said.

WOMEN IN CHINA

"The Y.W.C.A. is an association of women and the womanhood of China urgently calls for religious education.....We are clamoring for the new day of women in China but as soon as the new light of education peeps through the dark chambers there follow with it the mad rush and subtle invasion of the new evils, modern luxuries and constant whetting of appetites for more selfish pleasures, vain glories and intensified anti-social habits.....Every element of the inherited past of the womanhood of China calls for adequate religious education and for every particle of the new addition to life, the womanhood of China urgently appeals for an adequate system of religious education."

Dr. Lew then discussed the relation of the Y.W.C.A. to the Church, as an association founded by church women for the purpose of serving the church, and made an ardent appeal for women to stand by the church and to follow in the vigorous and loyal ways of the early Christians. He said, "The Chinese Church is now in the throes of its new birth. We are hoping to have a church that is self-governing and self-supporting. How much can we expect from this new generation to build up an indigenous church? The present lack of interest in the Church's teachings cannot help but be followed by a lack of interest in the church's activities and existence.....The Church of China needs a vigorous program because of the appalling conditions at this critical hour.....But there has been an increasing number of women whose consecration cannot be surpassed in history....There are women today who make a continuous and careful study of the teachings of the church and who take part in formulating the coming Chinese interpretation of Christianity, and there are a large number of young women in the Christian schools with alert minds, who are making diligent efforts to prepare for Christian service. These facts constitute a strong appeal for the necessity of a vigorous program of religious education."

OUTLINES PROGRAM

Dr. Lew then reviewed some of the characteristics of the program of religious education by which the Y.W.C.A. might meet the need of the Church of China, as follows: That it should give an adequate philosophy of life to the womanhood of China, that it should be Chinese, practical, experimental, and comprehensive of both old and new ideas, and finally that it must be built upon the Word of God. He said, "The Bible is our Magna Charta in life, and the truth of God alone can give us freedom. A diligent search of the Scriptures must be an important part of our religious education program. The Bible must be made more intelligent to the womanhood of China. It must be taught in a language, explained in a setting, interpreted with the illustrations which are not foreign to the women of China—not parrot-like memorisation but an intelligent understanding, a really-felt appreciation should be the aim. The Bible must be made the source of life to every woman, from which every woman can find comfort, aspiration, hope and love which she needs and for which she is seeking. Finally, a new vigorous program of religious education for the women of China must make Jesus Christ the center. All other characteristics are of no avail if they do not focalise our attention and devotion to Jesus Christ, whose name this Association bears, whose own Life gives us Life, and whose presence gives us inspiration and power. The Y.W.C.A. must have a program of religious education which will bring every woman to the feet of the Master enjoy his fellowship and to receive from Him, life."

Conseil d'Administration Municipale de la Concession Francaise de Changhai

NOTICE

MUNICIPAL LOAN OF 1923

8.000 debentures of Tls. 100 each (issued at Tls. 97 each)

Rate of interest 6% per annum

The "Conseil d'Administration Municipale de la Concession Francaise de Changhai" hereby invite subscriptions for 8.000 debentures of Tls. 100 each, issued at Tls. 97 each according to the resolution passed at their General Meeting on the 14th May 1923.

The conditions on which the Debenture Certificates will be issued are:

1°.—The Debenture Certificates are transferable, and the person whose name is entered in the Register of Debenture Certificate or Certificates, shall alone be recognised and treated by the Council as the lawful and rightful holder and owner of such Debenture Certificate or Certificates.

2°.—The Debentures will be issued at Tls. 97 each

3°.—The Debentures will be redeemable at par (Tls. 100 each) in not less than 10 years and not more than 30 years, from 1st December 1923 and according to the figures determinated by the Council.

4°.—The Debentures will bear interest at 6% per annum, payable on the 31st day of May and 30th day of November in each year, when interest warrants will be issued to the registered owners.

5°.—The Debenture Certificates will be issued and bear interest from 1st July 1923.

6°.—Applications for Debentures will be received at the Secretary's Office, Rue du Consulat, from June 20 next. A cheque representing the amount of debentures asked for and payable on June 30th must be deposited at the same time.

7°.—Applications for Debentures under 97 will not be recognised by the Council.

8°.—For further informations, apply to Mr. P. Legendre, Secretary, French Municipal Council.

Shanghai, 31st May 1923.

By Order,
P. LEGENDRE
Secretary.

New Admiral Visits Peking

Admiral Thomas Washington, who recently took over command of the U. S. Asiatic fleet from Admiral Anderson, is now on a visit to Peking, visiting the American Minister, Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman.

Admiral Washington is accompanied by Captain Kimberly, commander of the flagship Huron, and by Lieutenant-Commanders Crosby and Ingraham. All are stopping at the Wagon-Lits. After a brief unofficial visit the Admiral and his staff will return to Shanghai and board the Huron.

Ye Olde English Fayre Booke

Members of the British Women's Association have just published 'Ye Olde English Fayre Booke,' which is a combination review of the activities of the Association during the current year and a program for the coming Fayre.

The novel Booke has been edited by Mrs. Norman Leslie and Mrs. H. Y. Irwine, two of the moving spirits in promoting the Fayre, and contains a number of interesting articles, poems and literary bits from various members of the Association, and illustrations by Toos and Sesson. Among the contributors are included Major Hilton Johnson, Mrs. Cornfoot, Michael Maher, Mrs. Irwine, Miss Ruth Benedict, Catherine E. Green, Mrs. J. H. Wallace, Kingsley Leslie, Judge Peter Grain, Miss Becky Sharp, Mrs. O. M. Green, Annie Finkelstein, Winifred Brankston, Mrs. Coulling, Mrs. Clear and V. V. King.

The Booke, which may be regarded as a clever keepsake in remembrance of the Fayre, as well as program of activities, may be purchased at Headquarters, or from Mrs. Irwine at 35 Yu Yuen Road; or at 453 Avenue Foch.

Soviet Plans Big Trade With France

(Reuter's Service)
Paris, Oct. 22.—With the object of interesting French banks in Russian trade, M. Schimanski, a Director of the Soviet State Bank, who is in Paris in connection wth several financial transactions, declared that the Russian State Bank had decided to open immediate credits totalling 50,000,000 gold roubles in favor of exporters of Russian wheat to France. Large Russian orders would be placed in France. The State Bank also proposed to deposit with French banks considerable holdings in dollars and sterling which are now idle in its vaults.

Report On Wreck Of Liner Okara

(Reuter's Service)
Calcutta, Oct. 22—The Court of Enquiry has found that the British India Liner Okara, which was wrecked during a heavy cyclone between Calcutta and Rangoon early in May, was seaworthy and properly loaded and that it foundered owing to the hatches going when the vessel was caught in the cyclone.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation (Agent)

October 23, 1923

Spot bar silver was up ⅞d. in London yesterday and forward ½d. The New York price advanced to 63¾ cents and the London-New York cross rate declined to 449½.

Our official Sterling rate here today was raised to 3s. 1d., the Gold Dollar rate to 69¼, the Yen rate dropped to 71¼ and the other rates changed accordingly.

Our market at the opening was firm but eased off slightly during the day. In the early part of the morning there were sellers of Sterling at 3s. 1⅜d. for October delivery, 3s. 1⅞d. November and 3s. 1¾d. December-January.

There were sellers of Gold Dollars at 70⅛ for near and forward deliveries.

Later in the day, however, there were good buyers at these rates and the market eased off, closing with no sellers of Sterling at better than 3s. 1¾d. October delivery, 3s. 1⅞d. November and 3s. 1¾d. December.

The best sellers of Gold Dollars were offering 69⅞ for near and forward deliveries and there were sellers of Yen at 70 for near and forward deliveries.

Banks were quoting 3s. 2d., 71¾ and 1245 for Sterling, Gold Dollar and Franc bills respectively.

India and China both bought silver in London yesterday and the market is reported as closing weak with good sellers. New York report their market as easy with sellers at the close.

Every Morning at Breakfast take a draught of SANATOGEN
This will give you that extra nerve-energy which makes you feel "fit" and fresh all day and it will save you from Heat prostration

SANATOGEN in the morning means a better day's work—means that you feel brighter, fresher, and keener all day, in spite of the exhausting heat, while your powers of resistance to typhoid, cholera, dysentery and nervous disorders will be enormously increased.

TRY IT!

SANATOGEN'S power to increase nerve-energy has been definitely proved, in the words of Sir Charles A. Cameron, C.B., M.D., etc. President of the Royal Institute of Public Health:—

Sanatogen is an excellent nerve-food of the highest nutritive value, easily and completely digested.

GET A BOTTLE TO-DAY
ALL CHEMISTS SELL SANATOGEN

Never forget that Sanatogen is a food, not a medicine or a "secret remedy." It increases nerve-energy by feeding the nerves—not by goading them with drugs or stimulants. Its action is as natural as that of any ordinary food: it must do good, and it cannot do harm. That is why doctors give it even to babies. And that is why so many Europeans in the East take Sanatogen regularly, all the year round—not as an occasional "tonic," but as a part of their daily diet. You should do likewise, if you want to keep your nerve-energy at the highest pitch, and to avoid the debilitating effects of the great heat

The Traffic In Arms

AT the present moment the vocation, or avocation, of gun-running, arms-smuggling and dealing in arms and munitions of war is one of the most popular pastimes in China. Shanghai and Hongkong, as two centers from which the arms-dealers seem best able to keep in touch with the discordant elements who are always in need of revolvers and automatics and ammunition and ready to pay a good price for them, naturally stand out in the public eye.

During the last month or two the newspapers of both Hongkong and Shanghai have had occasion to chronicle a number of arrests of both foreigners and Chinese charged with the importation and sale of arms.

The peculiar extremes noted in the giving of punishment when the accused has been found guilty of the crime in the Crown Colony and the International Settlement are worthy of more than passing mention.

In Shanghai a man was found guilty of selling 50 revolvers and ammunition for them and was sentenced to three months at hard labor and fined $20.

In Hongkong an ex-sold or, arrested on a tram car with one revolver and 19 shells in his pocket, was sentenced to one year at hard labor.

In Shanghai, in the Mixed Court, several Chinese have been sent to jail for periods hardly ever exceeding one or two months for having arms in their possession.

In Hongkong a few days ago three men who were arrested with three revolvers, an automatic pistol and 22 rounds of ammunition in their possession were sentenced to five years at hard labor and to ten strokes of the "cat."

We could run several parallel columns of like cases, each showing just as great a discrepancy in handing out justice as the cases outlined above.

Hongkong, we think, is too severe on Chinese who are merely in the possession of arms. It is only just and right that those discovered with unlawful arms in their possession should pay a severe penalty but five years at hard labor with the additional torture of the "cat" seems rather heavy unless there were special circumstances, as for instance previous convictions for armed robbery, and so on Shanghai we think is too mild. To allow a man to go scot free or to impose a small fine or minor prison sentence—especially when he has been implicated in an arms deal of some size—seems to be a travesty on justice. Is it safer to sell a whole arsenal than one revolver?

It appears to us that the time has arrived for the Commissioner of Police or the Consular Body or the Municipal Council or at least some one in authority to give earnest consideration to the question and lay down certain penalties to be imposed by the Mixed Court. The judges of the other courts could then be expected, to follow out the general lines of some uniform policy that would inflict penalties severe enough to hurt the traffic in Shanghai.

The Prince of Wales, according to a Reuter dispatch, returned to London from his vacation sunbronzed. We take it the Prince got a little sunburned, eh Miss McGimple?

THE PUPPET

(From the Kansas City Star)

I am your puppet, love! Have I not danced
Unto the music of your golden lyre,
Hither and thither blown, like one entranced
With your mad music, higher, ever higher?
Casting all care and sorrow far behind.
Light as a leaflet drifting on the wind;
Floating as fairies do on gauzy wings.
So have I danced obedient to the strings
Your fingers pulled—the roses on my breast
Have withered in the revel—I seek rest—
Behold! the jewels in my tinsel crown
Show dull and faded, so I cast it down,
Turning, responsive to your lightest breath,
To sway forever in the Dance of Death.

As Calvin Coolidge Thinks

THE NEW PRESIDENT'S STATED OPINIONS ON CAPITAL AND LABOR

"Industry Cannot Flourish If Labor Languish"—"Ultimately Property Rights And Personal Rights Are Same Thing"—"There Is No Right To Strike Against Public Safety By Anybody Anywhere, Any Time"

THE CHINA PRESS today begins publication of a series of articles made up wholly of extracts from the best speeches and addresses of Calvin Coolidge which reflect his opinions on government and on political, social and economic questions. They were made while he was Governor of Massachusetts and President of the Massachusetts Senate. They were compiled with his permission and published in book form under his personal copyright.

CAPITAL AND LABOR

Their Rights And Duties

The welfare of the weakest and the welfare of the most powerful are inseparably bound together. Industry cannot flourish if labor languish. The general welfare cannot be provided for in any one act, but it is well to remember that the benefit of one is the benefit of all and the neglect of one is the neglect of all.

The suspension of one man's dividends is the suspension of another man's pay envelope.

The people cannot look to legislation generally for success. Industry thrift, character, are not conferred by act or resolve. Government cannot relieve from toil. It can provide no substitute for the rewards of service. It can of course care for the defective and recognise distinguished merit. The normal must care for themselves. Self-government means self-support.

Man is born into the universe with a personality that is his own. He has a right that is founded on the constitution of the universe to have property that is his own. Ultimately property rights and personal rights are the same thing. The one cannot be preserved if the other is violated. Each man is entitled to his rights and the rewards of his service be they never so large or never so small.

DIFFUSION OF WEALTH

History reveals no civilised people among whom there were not a highly educated class, and large aggregations of wealth. . . . Inspiration has always come from above. . . . It may be that the diffusion of wealth works in an analogous way. As the little red schoolhouse is builded in the college, it may be that the fostering and protection of large aggregations of wealth are the only foundation on which to build the prosperity of the whole people. Large profits mean large payrolls. But profits must be the result of service performed. In no land are there so many and such large aggregations of wealth as here; in no land do they perform larger service; in no land will the work of the day bring so large a reward in material and spiritual welfare.

To the State Senate of Massachusetts.

It ought to be understood, however, that there can be no remedy for lack of industry and thrift, secured by law. It ought to be understood that no scheme of insurance and no scheme of Government aid is likely to make us all prosperous.

The Republican party is proposing humanitarian legislation to build up character; to establish independence not pauperism; it will in the future as in the past ever stand opposed to the establishment of one class who shall live on the Government and another class who shall pay the taxes. To those who fear we are turning Socialists and to those who think we are withholding just and desirable public aid and support I say that government under the Republican party will continue in the future to be so administered as to breed not mendicants but men. Humanitarian legislation is going to be the handmaid of character.

To the Norfolk Republican Club of Boston, 1916.

SOUNDNESS OF PRINCIPLES

During the last few years we have questioned the soundness of many principles that had for a long time been taken for granted. We have examined the foundations of our institutions of government. We have debated again the theories of the men who wrote the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the nation, and laid down the fundamental law of our own commonwealth. Along with this examination of our form of government has gone an examination of our social, industrial and economic system. What is to come out of it all?

In the last fifty years we have had a material prosperity in this country the like of which was never beheld before—a prosperity which not only built up great industries, great transportation systems, great banks and a great commerce, but a prosperity under whose influence arts and sciences, education and charity flourished most abundantly. It was little wonder that men came to think that prosperity was the chief end of man and grew arrogant in the use of its power.

It was little wonder that such a misunderstanding arose; that one part of the community thought the owners and managers of our great industries were robbers, or that they thought some of the people meant to confiscate all property.

As a part of this discussion we have had many attempts at regulation of industrial activity by law. Some of it has proceeded on the theory that if those who enjoyed material prosperity used it for wrong purposes such prosperity should be limited or abolished.

That is as sound as it would be to abolish writing to prevent forgery.

We need to keep forever in mind that guilt is personal; if there is to be punishment let it fall on the evildoer, let us not condemn the instrument. We need power. Is the steam engine too strong? Is electricity too swift? Can any prosperity be too great? Can any instrument of commerce or industry ever be too powerful to serve the public needs?

What then of the anti-trust laws? They are sound in theory. Assemblances of wealth are broken up because they were assembled for an unlawful purpose. It is the purpose that is condemned. You men who represent our industries can see that there is the same right to disperse unlawful assembling of wealth or power that there is to disperse a mob that has met to lynch or riot. But that principle does not denounce town meetings or prayer meetings.

We have established here a democracy on the principle that all men are created equal. It is our endeavor to extend equal blessings to all. It can be done approximately if we establish the correct standards. We are coming to see that we are dependent upon commercial and industrial prosperity not only for the creation of wealth but for the solving of the great problem of the distribution of wealth. There is just one condition on which men can secure employment and a living, nourishing, profitable wage for whatever they contribute to the enterprise, be it labor or capital, and that condition is that some one make a profit by it. That is the sound basis for the distribution of wealth and the only one. It cannot be done by law, it cannot be done by public ownership, it cannot be done by socialism. When you deny the right to a profit you deny the right of a reward to thrift and industry.

LAW WORKS BOTH WAYS

The scientists tell us that the same force that rounds the teardrop molds the earth. Physical laws have their analogy in social and industrial life. The law that builds up the people is the law that builds up industry. What price could the millions who have found the inestimable blessings of American citizenship around our great industrial centers, after coming here from lands of oppression, afford to pay to those who organised those industries? Shall we not recognise the great service they have done the cause of humanity? Have we not seen what happens to industry, to transportation, to all commercial activity which we call business when profit fails? Have we not seen the suffering and misery which it entails upon the people?

Let us recognise the source of these fundamental principles and not hesitate to assert them. Let us frown upon greed and selfishness, but let us also condemn envy and uncharitableness. Let us have done with misunderstandings, let us strive to realise the dream of democracy by a prosperity of industry that shall mean the prosperity of the people by a strengthening of our material resources that shall mean a strengthening of our character, by a merchandising that has for its end manhood and womanhood, the ideal of American citizenship.

The Associated Industries, Boston, 1916.

The laws of our country have designated the first Monday of each September as Labor Day. It is truly an American day, for it was here that for the first time in history a government was founded on a recognition of the sovereignty of the citizen, which has irresistibly led to a realisation of the dignity of his occupation. It is with added propriety that this day is observed this year. For the first time in five years it comes at a time when the issue of world events makes it no longer doubtful whether the American conception of work as the crowning glory of men free and equal is to prevail over the age old European conception that work is the badge of the menial and the inferior. The American ideal has prevailed on European battle fields through the loyalty, devotion and sacrifice of American labor. The duty of citizenship in this hour is to strive to maintain and extend that ideal at home.

PROGRESS OF WAGE EARNERS

The past five years have been a time of rapid change and great progress for the American people. Not only have the hours and conditions of labor been greatly improved, but wages have increased about 100 percent. There has been a great economic change for the better among all wage earners.

We have known that political power was with the people because they have the votes. We have generally supposed that economic power was not with the people because they did not own the property. This supposition, probably never true, is growing more and more to be contrary to the facts. The great outstanding fact in the economic life of America is that the wealth of the nation is owned by the people of the nation. The stockholders of the great corporations run into the hundreds of thousands; the small tradesmen, the thrifty householders, the tillers of the soil, the depositors in savings banks and the now owners of Government bonds make a number that includes nearly our entire people.

Most of us earn our livelihood through some form of employment. More and more of our people are in possession of some part of the wages of yesterday, and so are investors. This is the ideal economic condition.

The great aim of our Government is to protect the weak—to aid them to become strong. How can our people be made strong? Only as they draw their strength from our industries. How can they do that? Only by building up our industries and making them strong. This is fundamental. It is the place to begin. These are the instruments of all our achievement. When they fail, all fails. When they prosper, all prosper. Workmen's compensation, hours and conditions of labor are cold consolations if there be no employment. And employment can be had only if some one finds it profitable. The greater the profit the greater the wages.

ECONOMIC LESSON OF WAR

This is one of the economic lessons of the war. It should be remembered now when taxes are to be laid and in the period of readjustment. Taxes must be measured by the ability to meet them out of surplus income. Industry must expand or fail. It must show a surplus after all payments of wages, taxes and returns to investors. Conscription can call once, then all is over. Just requirements can be met again and again with ever increasing ability.

Justice and the general welfare go hand in hand. Government had to take over our transportation interests in order to do such justice to them that they could pay their employees and carry our merchandise. They have been so restricted lest they do harm that they became unable to do good. Their surplus was gone and we New Englanders had to go without coal. Seeing now more clearly than before the true interests of wage earner, invester, and the public, which is the consumer, we shall hereafter be willing to pay the price and secure the benefits of justice to all these coordinate interests.

We have met the economic problem of the returning service men. They have been assimilated into our industrial life with little delay and with no disturbance of existing conditions. The day of adversity has passed. The American people met and overcame it. The day of prosperity has come. The great question now is whether the American people can endure their prosperity. I believe they can. The power to preserve America is in the same hands today that it was when the German army was almost at the gates of Paris. That power is with the people themselves; not one class but all classes; not one occupation but all occupations; not one citizen but all citizens.

AMERICAN DUTY

Having accomplished this great task, having emerged from the war the strongest, the least burdened nation on earth, are we now to fail before our lesser task? Are we to turn aside from the path that has led us to success? Who now will set selfishness above duty? The counsel that Samuel Gompers gave is still sound when he said in effect: "America may not be perfect. It has the imperfections of all things human. But it is the best country on earth, and the man who will not work for it, who will not fight for it, and if need be die for it, is unworthy to live in it."

Happily the day when the call to fight or die is now past. But the day when it is the duty of all Americans to work will remain forever. Our great need now is for more of everything for everybody. It is not money that the nation or the world needs today but the products of labor. These products are to be secured only by the united efforts of an entire people. The trained business man and the humblest workman must each contribute. All of us must work, and in that work there should be no interruption. There must be more food, more clothing, more shelter. The directors of industry must direct it more efficiently, the workers in industry must work in more efficiently. Such a course saved us in war; only such course can preserve us in peace. The power to preserve America, with all that it now means to the world, all the great hope that it holds for humanity, lies in the hands of the people.

Plymouth, Labor Day 1919.

South Still Battling; Issue Not Yet Decided

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Canton, Oct. 16.—Very little fighting has been reported from Eastern Kwangtung during the last few days, and the issue between Dr. Sun Yat-sen and General Chen Chiung-ming has not been finally decided as was expected. Waichow is still able to face bombardment. Reports from Constitutionalist sources state that the inhabitants of Waichow are starving and will soon force the military authorities there to surrender. Another report is being circulated that the followers of General Chen are considering of asking for an armistice, which will lead to a compromise so that a joint effort may be made to undertake a strong Northern expedition against President Tso Kun, whom many of General Chen's men also oppose. In the meantime, Dr. Sun has ordered the civil Governor of Kwangtung to prepare for food relief for Waichow, which he believes must fall shortly. At the same time Dr. Sun has issued calls on Marshal Tuan Chi-jui, General Lu Yung-hsiang, General Chang Tso-lin, and others to organise expeditions against Peking and to punish the Members of Parliament within their jurisdiction. In Kwangtung some 32 Members of Parliament, headed by Mr. Yeh Hsia Sheng, are being denounced as traitors, for having voted for Marshal Tsao Kun as President. The Cantonese organisations in Shanghai have urged the Canton authorities to expel these traitors from the province upon their return and deprive them of their citizenship during their absence.

Gradual developments in favor of Dr. Sun Yat-sen are shown by the action of General Chiang Kwang-ling, commander of the Yunnanese Army, last week in circulating a statement offering to return all the revenue posts, which he had recently seized, to the proper authorities and asking for the future provisioning of his corps to be provided by the General Headquarters. That General Chiang should issue this statement and take action independently without the support and advice of his superior officer, General Yang Hsi-min, is causing some concern here, as this confirms to a great extent the widely reported demoralisation of the Yunnanese Army and may cause extraordinary action on the part of those immediately concerned.

The restaurant strike in Canton which started on Sept. 19 as a protest against the proposed meal tax, ended today, after nearly a month, in a moral victory for the restaurantkeepers but one which is also favorable to the Government. The tax, as was first proposed, was to be collected by a syndicate which was offering $220,000 annually to the provisional Bureau of Finance for a term of years. According to the compromise agreed between the Civil Governor and the proprietors' and waiters' guilds of the restaurants, the restaurants will independently contribute $220,000 for a year only for the aid of Government education and will hand the proceeds directly to the Bureau of Education. They will stop payment upon the return of Kwangtung to normal conditions, when the Government will be able to look after the Educational Department without resorting to unusual financial measures. The Commssioner of Finance is not pleased with the arrangements made by the Civil Governor, who has taken a hand in the matter contrary to the usual procedure and has now referred the whole matter of a settlement with the syndicate to the Chief Executive Office.

The fire-cracker factories in Canton are still suspending work as a protest against the stamp duty on their products. They claim that they have been taxed enough, when they have had to pay heavily on saltpetre and other likins.

Chang Hu To Keep His Job; Tsao Kun Gets Octroi Funds

Kunghsien Arsenal Will Ship 150 Cases Of Arms To Hunan

(Dah Tong News Bureau)

Peking, Oct. 22.—The President and the Cabinet have held a conference on the question of the extention of the loan of the Sino-Japanese Industrial Company, which will require the assistance of Chang Hu, Minister of Finance. Therefore, it has been decided to give Chang another post when the Cabinet is reorganised.

The Bureau of Military Affairs has requested the Ministry of War to order the Arsenal at Kunghsien, Honan, to supply the 49th and 50th brigades, which are on their way to Hunan, with 150 cases of munitions within a week. This is in deference to the desire of Wu Pei-fu.

The Presidential Office has delegated Li Yen-ching to secure from Hsi Tu-pi, Chief of the Peking Octroi, to forward its funds to the president, and Hsi has agreed.

For fear of the antagonism of the Chekiang people, Wang Chia-hsiang, Acting Speaker of the Senate, has refrained from offering his congratulation to Tsao Kun. He has gone to Tientsin to live in retirement.

Radio Plants In North Completed

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 21—Major Dockray, who in July completed the wireless station at Kashgar for the Chinese Government under the contract entered into between the Marconi Company and the Chinese Government several years ago, and afterwards proceeded overland to India, has now reached Peking. The first and second stations were erected at Urga and Urumchi respectively. Major Dockray has been away from Peking on this work practically two years.

Hongkong Gives Stern Justice To Arms Dealers

The present session of the Criminal Sessions court in Hongkong is dealing out stern and severe justice to those found guilty of having unlawful arms or ammunition in their possession judging from reports appearing in the Hongkong papers. Three men who were arrested with three revolvers, one automatic pistol and 19 rounds of ammunition in their possession were sentenced to five years at hard labor and given ten strokes of the 'cat.'

Another Chinese, an ex-soldier going from Canton to his home, was arrested in a tram car with a revolver and several shells in his pocket. He was given one year at hard labor.

A laundryman returning from Canada on the President Jefferson who was arrested on board with 575 rounds of ammunition was fined $1,000 and the arms were confiscated.

Armed Robbers Escape With $30

After an absence of several days armed robbers again appeared in the Settlement on Monday, according to police reports yesterday, and robbed a rice shop at 96 Pingliang Road. Five men, three of whom were armed with revolvers, held up the assistants and stole $30 from the cash box. All escaped without an alarm being raised.

900 Panel Doctors In London Resign

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 22—As an outcome of their decision on October 18 to reject the offer of the Minister of Health to reduce their fee by a shilling, 900 panel doctors out of 1,640 in the London area have already resigned. Resignations are similarly heavy throughout the country.

Mr. Farman, secretary of the County of London Panel Doctors, intimated their willingness to accept 8s. 6d. provided the Government would appoint a committee to enquire into the working of Insurance Acts, and in the meantime guarantee the doctors against the approved societies' interference.
